

2012

Connecting the Outreach Dots: Librarians and Graduate Students at Cornell Collaborating on Dynamic Programs in Chemistry Research and Professional Development

Jill Wilson
Cornell University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://surface.syr.edu/nyscilib>

 Part of the Library and Information Science Commons

Recommended Citation

Wilson, Jill, "Connecting the Outreach Dots: Librarians and Graduate Students at Cornell Collaborating on Dynamic Programs in Chemistry Research and Professional Development" (2012). Upstate New York Science Librarians Conference. 27.
<https://surface.syr.edu/nyscilib/27>

This Presentation is brought to you for free and open access by SURFACE. It has been accepted for inclusion in Upstate New York Science Librarians Conference by an authorized administrator of SURFACE. For more information, please contact surface@syr.edu.

*Connecting the Outreach Dots:
Librarians and Graduate Students at Cornell
Collaborating on Dynamic Programs in Chemistry Research and Professional Development*

Jill Wilson
Outreach Coordinator for Engineering, Math and
Physical Sciences Libraries
Cornell University

The PSL (Physical Sciences Library)

- Virtual Library
- Research Library
- Services, digital collections
- Reinvigorated outreach
- Embedded subject librarians

Cornell University

ACS ON CAMPUS: CORNELL UNIVERSITY

APRIL 20, 2012

Transforming Students into Scholars

Join the American Chemical Society for free seminars to become a better writer, get published and jump-start your career.

WHAT IS ACS ON CAMPUS?

ACS on Campus is an outreach program from the ACS that brings resources from Publications, Membership & Scientific Advancement, Education and CAS to top universities in the U.S. and abroad.

WHY SHOULD YOU PARTICIPATE?

The mission of ACS on Campus is to support the transformation of students into scholars by helping YOU:

University of California, San Diego

- become FLUENT IN THE WEB TOOLS necessary to produce cutting-edge, world-class science (like SciFinder® and the ACS journals platform).
- PUBLISH successfully in top journals.
- FIND a job and successfully promote your unique skill set in a tough job market.

How can you participate? Register for free at pubs.acs.org/r/acsoc

ACS on Campus: Cornell University is co-sponsored by the ACS Cornell Local Section.

ACS Publications
MOST TRUSTED. MOST CITED. MOST READ.

Bringing ACSOC to Cornell

- Graduate students
- Faculty
- ACS!
- Librarians (subject, outreach)

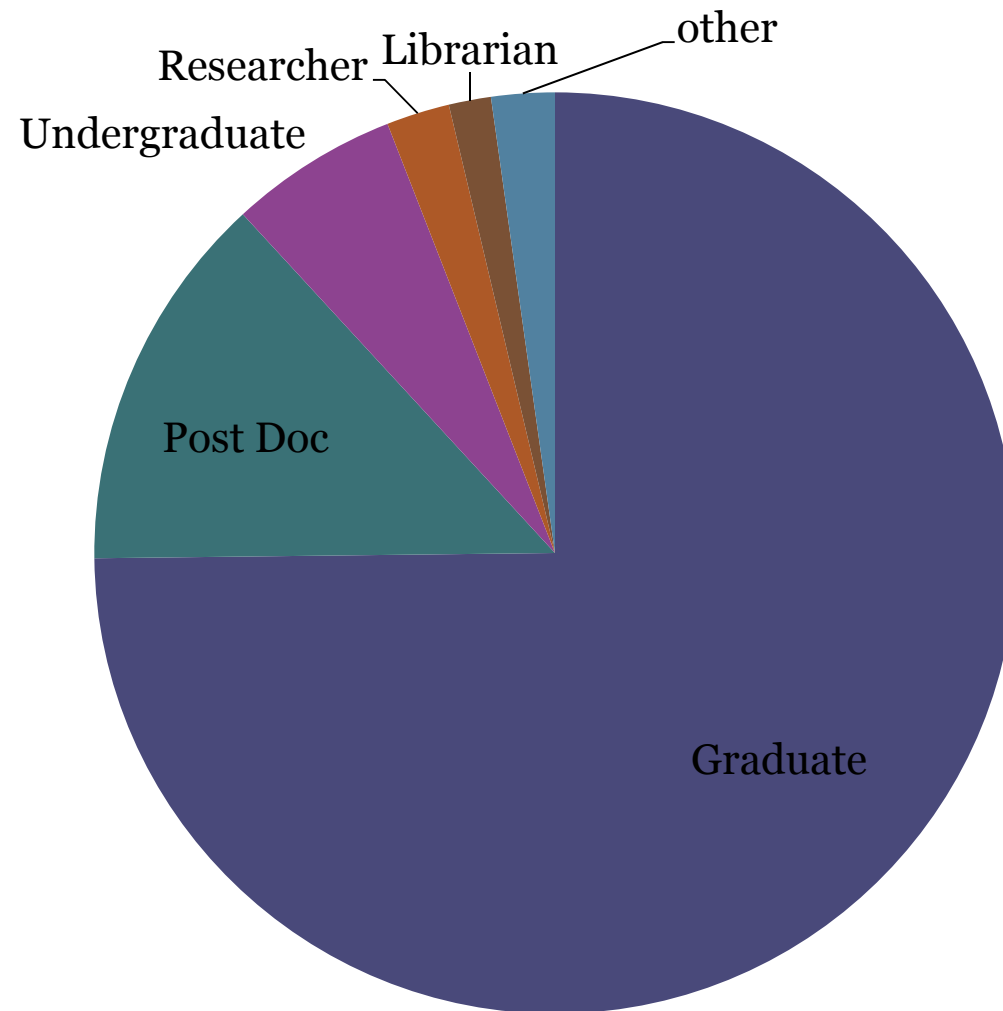

Making ACSOC our own

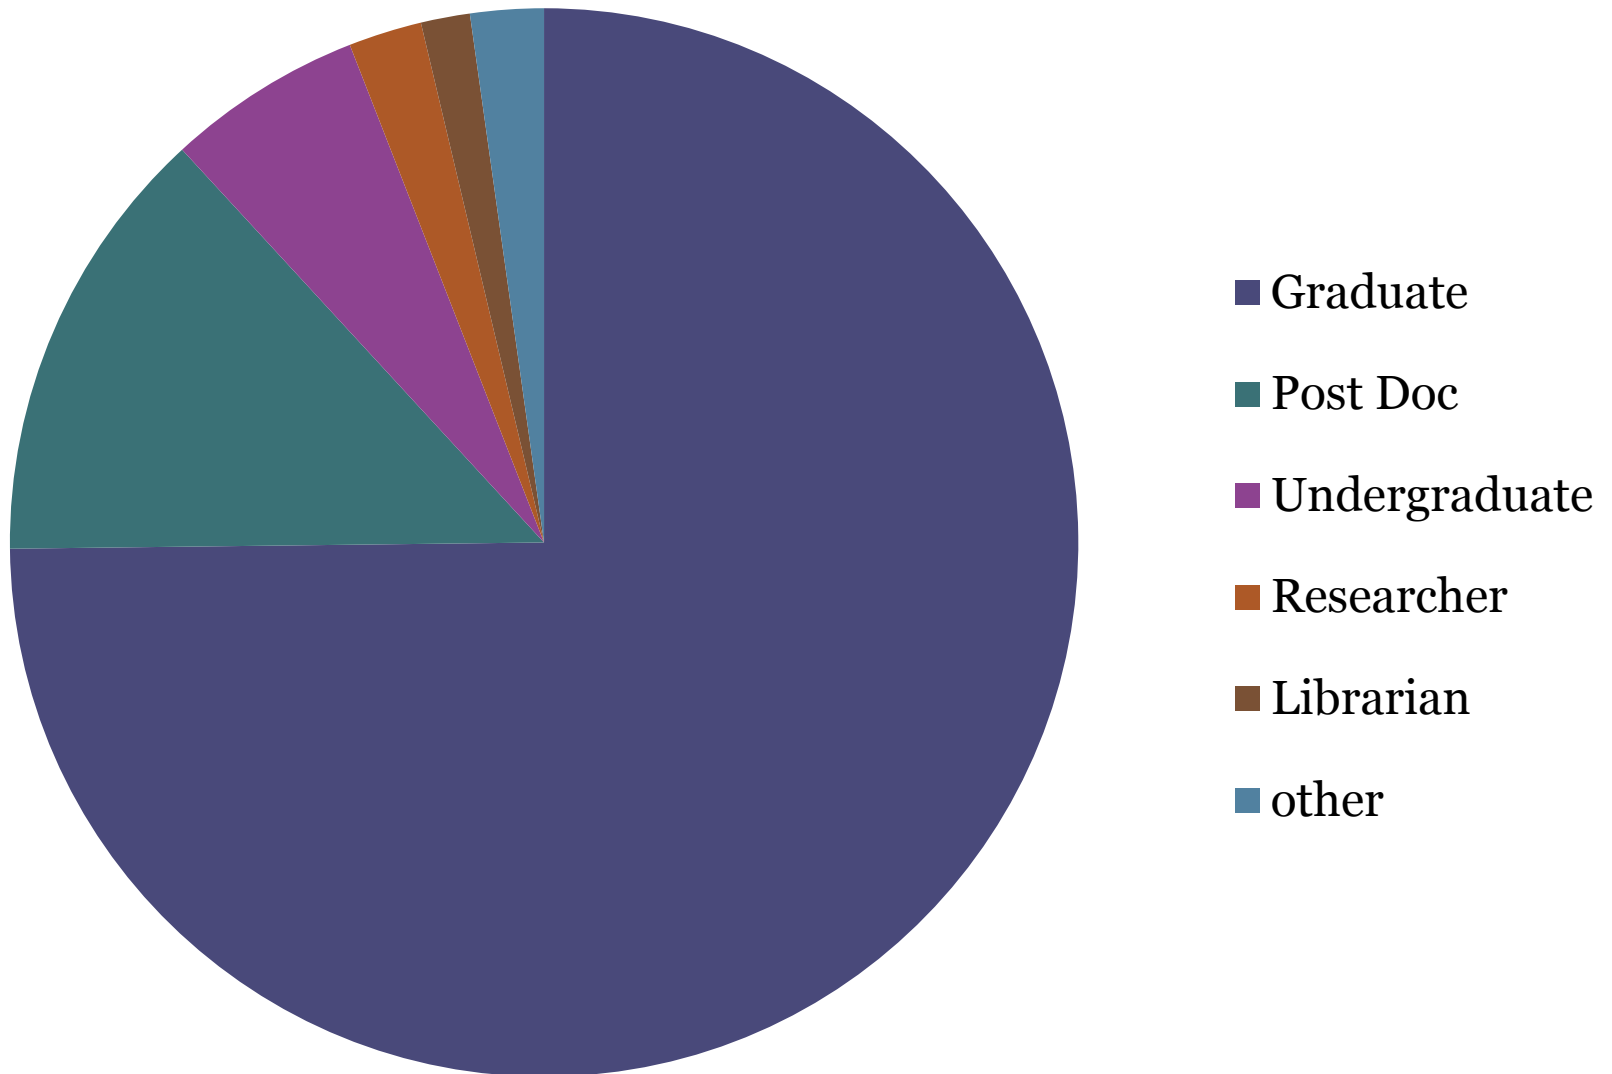

- In-house developed modules
 - NSF grants
 - SciFinder Ninja
 - Communicating your science
- Mixed panelists and moderators
- Local flavor

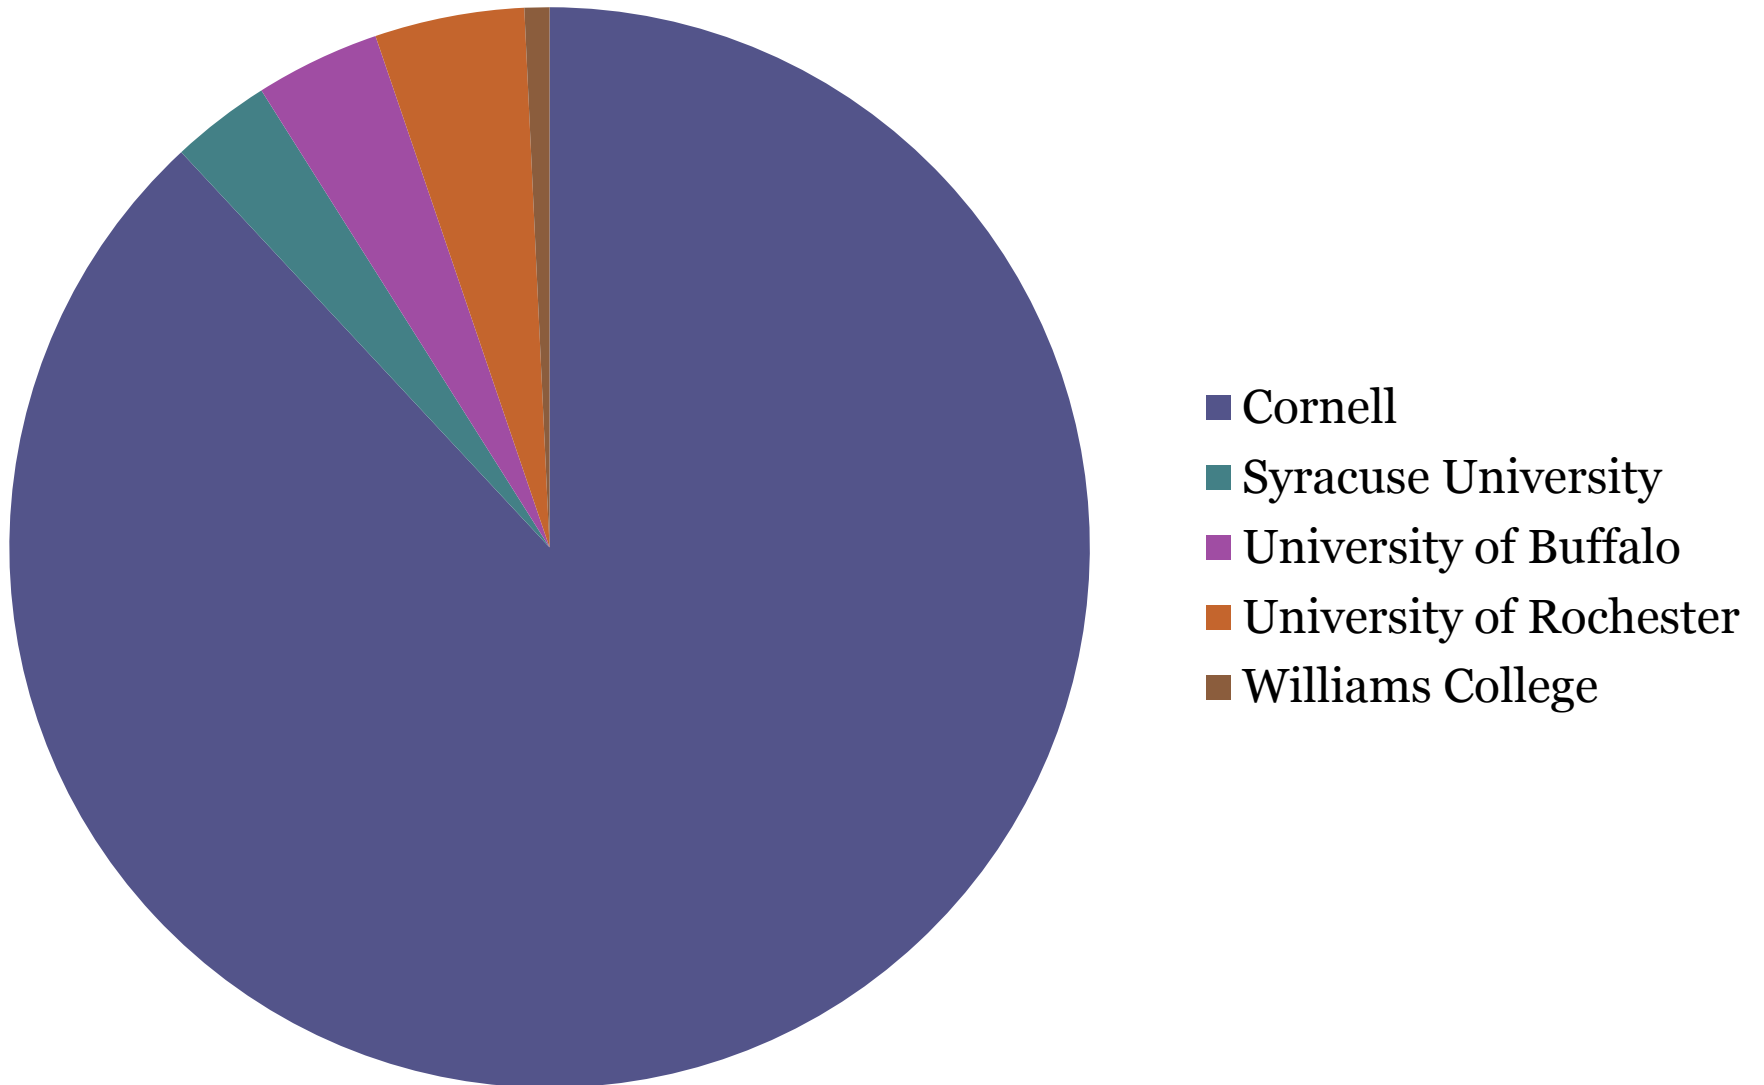

Attendees

Attendees

Institution

Feedback

“I finally figured out how an ACS article is published...”

“I would absolutely recommend ACS on campus to a colleague.”

“...really efficient way to network and gain access to new information without having to leave town!”

“I learned the importance of networking and I learned about many new resources that the ACS offers.”

“...good recommendations for my students in regards to building their resumes and things to consider when presenting their scientific work,”

Great! What else?

- ACS local graduate student chapter
- More SciFinder workshops
- Library recognition
- Relationships strengthened

We keep going -

- Other workshops
- More instruction
- Cross-campus connections

Public speaking workshop

- Presentation skills outside of teaching
- Logistics
- Murphy's law
- Dress, communicating science, etc.

ChemCon? (or “unconference”)

Wherever we may go...

- We are better librarians (Yes? Yes!)
- Outreach is better, different, unconventional
- Ownership of library – users' library

Thanks

for listening!

ICANHASCHEEZBURGER.COM 🍪 🍪 🍪