Take Back the Night 2013 April 10, 7pm

Take Back the Night at Syracuse University, coordinated by the Advocacy Center, is an annual collaboration of campus and community members, coming together to make a commitment to working toward ending sexual and relationship violence, raising awareness about attitudes that perpetuate violence, and discussing how we can work together to make the night safe for all community members.

The events culminate in a rally, march and speak-out at Hendricks Chapel on Wednesday, April 10 at 7pm. For more information please visit the official page.

Girl Rising Premier May 9, 7:30pm

On the heels of the PBS documentary "Half the Sky" is a new, independent film called "Girl Rising". The movie follows nine girls in different countries and situations, emphasizing the power of education to change a girl's life. A group of famous women, including Meryl Streep, narrate the movie. The film was featured at the 2013 Sundance Film Festival.

There is the potential for a showing of the movie on Thursday, May 9, at 7:30 pm at Shoppingtown Mall. For the "show to go on" there must be at least 100 reservations. As of today there are 61 reservations, so 39 more are needed for the event to take place. Please order your ticket from the official website.

Trending News and Sports

DPS hosts event to connect with SU students

Hugh Yang didn't expect to get a free lunch when he walked through the Schine Atrium on Wednesday. But a few minutes later, Yang, a freshman information and technology major, found himself eating a sandwich wrap and commenting on the Department of Public Safety's performance on campus. The free sandwiches and survey were part of "Wrapping with DPS." The goal of the event, held in the atrium from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Wednesday, was for DPS to get feedback from the community and build relationships between students and officers..
