What do these people have in common? They have all been speakers in the College for Human Development's Genet Lecture Series.

Over the past four years, some 26 high-powered professionals in fashion, retailing, and design have visited Syracuse as part of the Genet Series, each adding a special dimension to the education students receive in the classroom. Learning theories in a classroom is one thing—and hearing visiting professionals explain how they work in the real world is quite another.

The Genet Lectures are free and open to the public. For more information on the 1986-87 lineup of speakers, write to Syracuse University, Genet Lecture Series, College for Human Development, Slocum Hall, Syracuse, New York 13244-1250; or telephone 315-423-2033.
