Facing page: Ambassador John R. Bolton, who served as U.S. permanent representative to the United Nations from August 2005 to December 2006, discussed “U.N. Reform and U.S. Priorities” during a talk at the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs.

Below, left: From piping hot chili to skating on ice at the Tenny Pavilion, Winter Carnival 2007 had it all, including a free screening of the animated penguin epic Happy Feet. Cultural and performance events featured Cheon Ji In, SU’s Korean Traditional Drumming Club, and Pan-African Night, sponsored by the Caribbean Students Association.

Below, top right: The College of Arts and Sciences hosted the American Mock Trial Association’s Finger Lakes Regional Tournament. More than 300 students from colleges and universities throughout the Northeast took part in the tournament, which was held for the first time in Syracuse. Competitions took place at various locations on the SU campus, and at the Onondaga County Courthouse.

Below, bottom right: In an effort to improve inmate literacy and encourage literacy-related activities, the libraries and reading programs in the Onondaga County Justice Center have been enhanced, thanks to a new program developed by Syracuse University Library. The collaborative effort also includes the Mary Ann Shaw Center for Public and Community Service, SU’s School of Information Studies, the Syracuse City School District and ProLiteracy Worldwide.
