Facing page: Theodore Bikel, world-renowned folk singer, and stage and screen actor, joined a group of internationally known musicians to present the “Bridge to Peace” concert at the University United Methodist Church. The concert of Bosnian, Christian, Jewish and other ethnic music featured Dutch singer Shura Lipovsky, Bosnian accordionist Merima Kljuco and conductor/pianist Tamara Brooks, among other instrumentalists. The concert was part of a weeklong series of “Bridge to Peace” events, which included classes at SU and in area high schools, a program of Hasidic tales and songs, and a collaboration with Hillel and Jewish studies courses at SU.

Below, top right: B. Smith, former fashion model, writer, host of a national cable TV show, restaurateur, and founder of the B. Smith with Style Home Collection, was among the speakers at the 2007 Women Igniting the Spirit of Entrepreneurship (WISE) conference. More than 700 people attended the event, which was opened by SU Chancellor Nancy Cantor and emceed by Donna Adamo, WTVH-5 news anchor. The Falcone Center of Entrepreneurship in the Martin J. Whitman School of Management sponsored the event, in collaboration with the Key Foundation.

Below, bottom: The College of Visual and Performing Arts (VPA) celebrated the life of the late sculptor and VPA faculty member Rodger Mack (1938-2002) with a series of events, including an iron pour by sculpture alumnus Steve Spatz '99.
