

et al.: Front matter

SYRACUSE

UNIVERSITY MAGAZINE

SUMMER 2013 | VOL 30 | No 2

SKY WITNESS NEWS:
Newhouse professor explores
use of drones in journalism

CONTENTS

NO 2 SUMMER 2013 VOL 30

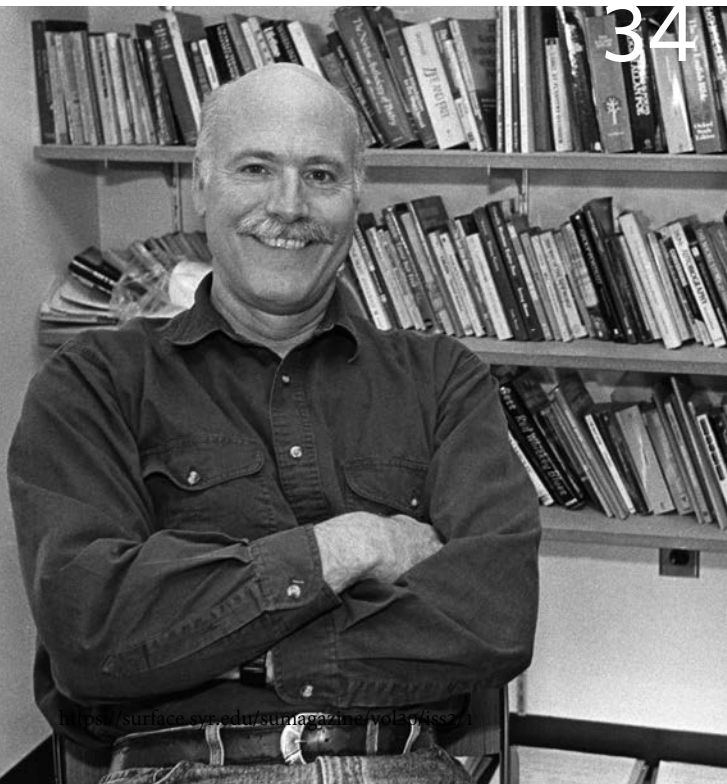

FEATURES

- 22 | A Promise Fulfilled
Syracuse University graduates its first class of Say Yes Scholars.

- 28 | Welcome to the ACC
Make way for Tobacco Road, Tiger Paws, and the Ramblin' Wreck as the Orange enters a new era in its intercollegiate athletics history.

- 34 | Encouraging Words
The Creative Writing Program marks 50 years of care and commitment to developing writers. Plus, a Q&A with English professor and best-selling author George Saunders G'88.

- 42 | Commencement 2013
Photographs and highlights of the University's 159th Commencement.

ON THE COVER:
A drone hovers over a farmer's field near Syracuse during a demonstration by Professor Dan Pacheco, the Peter A. Horvitz Chair of Journalism Innovation at the Newhouse School. Pacheco introduces his students to the use of drones for newsgathering. For more, see page 20.
Photo by Susan Kahn

DEPARTMENTS

2 Chancellor's Message

3 Opening Remarks

4 Orange Matters

» Community Architecture

» Marshall Street Records

» Carnegie Library Project » Moot Court

» Research Snapshot » News Makers

» University Treasures » Green Roof Project

16 SU People

44 Alumni Journal

HIGHLIGHTS

PROFILES: Andrew Berlin '83

Roland Grimes '85, G'99

Lisa Lampanelli '83

Shamsiyya Mustafayeva G'09, G'10

Dr. Lawrence Shulman '71

James "Shay" Zak '85

REMEMBRANCE: One Lucky Guy

IN THE FIRST PERSON: What a Best Friend

Can Teach You about Love, Life, and Success

ORANGE LEGACY:

A Family's Century-Long Connection

